Announcement

WE have secured the sole agency for Semi-ready Tailoring---the highest type of modern tailoring; and we ask our customers to come and view the garments made in the conservative and cultured styles men admire.

The Semi-ready corporation has won for itself a world-wide reputation. Its progress has been wonderful. By their physique type system they tailor Men's Clothes to fit men of any physique type --Normal, Tall, Short in Height, Short-Stout, Tall-Stout or Slim---it matters not whether or not you cannot be fitted in ready-mades, you can surely be correctly fitted by the Semi-ready system.

LEADERS in the making of Men's Clothes---the Semi-ready Company have attained their position by adhering truly to high quality of fabrics, to good workmanship, and to fair, standard prices for work that is worthy.

Every garment sold is guaranteed with the price, and warranted to give satisfactory service.

PRICES of Semi-ready Clothes are fixed and plainly marked on each garment. They are sold at the same prices everywhere in Canada. A $15 or $20 Suit or Overcoat here costs the same in Montreal or in Vancouver.

Special Suits can be made to order at the factory in four days' time. We send your measure.

SEMI-READY Clothes have many imitators, but no competitors. The inside work on a Semi-ready coat gives it a distinction in style, and the wearer will find that in the day-to-day service this style and shape holds good and true. The values are good and the Clothes are cheap in the true sense of the word.

One of President Taft's favorite stories recently told at an informal dinner in the White House, runs thus:

"A clergyman's little boy was spending the afternoon with the bishop's children.

"'Pooh!' said the bishop's boy. 'My father lays a foundation once a week.'"

JOHN BULL AND TRUSTS.

Americans Who Found the Tight Little Island Too Much for Them.

What is a trade-war?

It is a battle in which no blood is spilt, but which can bear results every bit as serious as those which occur on the actual field of war. Two great organizations are pitted against each other. Silently, with scarcely a sound above the scratching of a pen, the more powerful faction presses its opponent back, and upon the issues depends the welfare of thousands, many of whom have no idea that any kind of battle is being fought at all.

In the present trade-war between Lord Cowdray and the Standard Oil Co., John Bull is standing in the ring with Uncle Sam, and is knocking him out. They are fighting over the great oil-fields of Mexico, and, although the Standard Oil Co. have used every means in their power to outwit their English rival, and even employed spies to shadow him in New York, they have found their match. The British lion magnate is beating them at their own game.

The Standard Oil Co. have not had many such reverses. Forty-five years ago, Mr. John D. Rockefeller realized the great possibilities that lay in oil, formed a syndicate, and proceeded to buy up every rival syndicate. He often paid absurdly high prices to his rivals in order to gain absolute control. If they refused to sell, he either retailed oil in their districts at a loss, or else actually gave it away, until they were forced through lack of business, to admit themselves beaten.

A particularly interesting trade-war was that fought recently between the English and American tobacconists. The American Tobacco Co. was one of the most formidable syndicates that ever threatened our chalky cliffs.

It was an amalgamation of five separate companies, which, previously had tried to cut each other's throats in their own country. They had placed wonderful "Surprise Packets" and other advertising dodges upon the market. They had blazoned the walls with enormous posters. One company had spent $1,500,000 annually in advertising its principal feature, "Bath Axe Plug," the price of which under went tremendous reductions. For the small price of fivepence, the American elastic-jawed chewer could buy a plug of "Bath-e Axe" three inches broad over half-an-inch thick, and a foot long.

But when these old rivals banded together, and invaded England under the banner of The American Tobacco Co., they found themselves absolutely out-classed. By offering a bonus of $1,000,000 a year for four years to all the English retailers who would supply their cigarettes, and nobody else's at a certain low figure, they hoped to get the entire monopoly of the tobacco custom in England. But before the temptation had spread too far, however, the English tobacconists joined forces, and formed themselves into The Imperial Tobacco Co. The American Trust found itself dealing with a host of small, independent merchants, found themselves face to face with a solid organization representing almost the entire tobacco interest of the British Isles, and they packed up their cheap cigarettes, and took the next boat home.

But the matter did not end there. The tobacconists who had been promised their big bonuses, and who had received only one half year's payment since the American Company for the balance of the year, refused to pay, arguing that, as their company had been liquidated, their liabilities had also ceased to exist. A test case was decided against them, however, and they wished more than ever that they had left the English bull-dog alone.—London Answers.

Toole's Tears.

Sallies of almost childlike high spirits endeared the late J. L. Toole, the lifelong friend of Henry Irving, to all who knew him. On one occasion, when the author of "Some Eminent Victorians" was spending a day in the innocent adventures which Toole was a genius in originating, they went to the Tower, where they found themselves among a party of eager sightseers in the chamber where the crown jewels are on view.

It was a woman who was explaining to the eager throng the history of the articles displayed. At the end of a long catalogue she said:—

"And this is Anne Boleyn's crown."

Toole, apparently suddenly overcome, burst into a flood of tears, and leaned against the wall in seemingly uncontrollable grief.

"Oh, sir," inquired the poor woman, in distress, "what is the matter?"

"Nothing! Nothing!" replied Toole, in broken accents. "Don't mind me; but the fact is, I have known the family so long."

Were Too Lucky.

While a crew of Firth of Forth fishermen were hauling in their nets filled with herrings, near Anstruther, one night recently, an extraordinary accident occurred. Upwards of fifteen crans had been placed on board, when the boat sank, being overloaded with the weight of the fish. One of the crew was rescued by another boat, but four men were drowned.

Youthful Wedded Folk.

Briton Ferry, in Glamorganshire, claims to hold the record for juvenility in marriage. Quite recently a man of fourteen years married a woman less than thirteen, and now a youth of twenty-six has married a wife of twelve and a half. She went on her honeymoon in a short frock and traveled at half fare.

It Cost $40.00 For Doctor's Visit

On Alberta's Prairies—DR. CHASE'S Medicine and Receipt Book Very Popular Out There.

The luxuries of city life are little known in the prairie homes of Western Canada. When sickness comes people find it necessary to depend on their own resources to a great extent on account of the difficulty and expense of a doctor's visit.

By reading the letter quoted here you will form some idea of how Dr. Chase's Medicines and Receipt Book are appreciated in Alberta. This is not only due to the convenience of having these medicines on hand when occasion requires but is also owing to their wonderful reliability.

Where will you find such a restorative treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to enrich the blood, strengthen the nerves and build up the run down system?

Mr. Geo. Clay, Oxville, Alberta, writes: "I have always been a great admirer of Dr. Chase's Medicines and have had his large Receipt Book for over twenty years. His medicines and book have saved me many doctor bills and have proven wonderfully effective. It costs $40.00 for a doctor to come out here so it is rather expensive to get sick.

"I recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to a friend of mine for his wife. He studied the symptoms in Dr. Chase's Almanac and found she needed Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to restore her wornout nervous system. I gave him some of this medicine until he could get to town when he got two boxes more and these cured her entirely.

"For myself, I used Dr. Chase's Catarrh Powder with splendid results. For some time I was bad with catarrh and could not breathe through my nose. Now I go to bed and never wake all night, and breathe all the time through the nose."

Dr. Chase's Medicines are for sale with all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

You Can Change Grates For Coal or Wood in a Jiffy

without tools, without trouble. The coal grate slips out of a Sask-Alta Steel Range with ease and the wood grate slides in as readily. The McClary patented Duplex coal grates have short strong teeth that crush clinkers. They cannot "stick." You can dump the ashes in one end of the fire-box if half the fire goes out, because the twin grates operate independently of each other. Inverted, they are used for burning wood temporarily.

A Warning

Some time ago a Winnipeg paper stated that the prairie chicken shooting season would open in Alberta on Sept. 15th, which caused a misunderstanding as to the date the shooting may commence. The correct time given by the Game Act is one month, from Oct. 1st to the 31st, except Sundays, during which time sportsmen are limited to 20 birds each per day or 200 for the month and in no case is any person allowed to buy or sell any of these birds at any time. The penalty for violation of this section of the Game Act is a fine of $50 with costs in either case.

The Department of Agriculture at Edmonton have taken up this matter and are warning all persons to abide by the law as laid down in the Game Act.

The Man From Brodney's

By GEORGE BARR M'CUTCHEON

The remainder of the men in the party, fourteen or fifteen in all, were of many castes and nationalities and of various ages. There were brown skinned fellows from Calcutta, a couple of sturdy Greeks, an Egyptian and a Persian, three or four Assyrians and as many Maoris. As to their walks in life, among them were clerks and guards from the bank, members of the native constabulary, Indian fakers and showmen and venders of foreign gewgaws.

Bowles, his thin legs still shaking perceptibly, although he strove mightily to hold them at strict "attention," was the spokesman. A valiant heart thumped once more against the seams of the little red jacket. If his hand trembled and his voice shook it was because of the unwonted exertion to which both had been put in that stirring night at dawn.

"For some time we have been preparing for the out-break," he said, tasting the glass of brandy that Britt had poured for him. "Ever since Chase began to go in so noticeably for the ladies—ahem!"

Chase glared at him. The others tittered.

"I don't mean the old story, sir, of the Persians, and I'm saying, sir, what's more, there wasn't a word of truth in it—I mean the ladies of the chateau, begging pardon too. Von Blitz came to me often with complaints that you were being made a fool of by a pretty face or two and that you were going over to the enemy body and soul. When I heard that they tried to kill you the night before last I made up my mind that no white man was to be left to tell the tale. Last night we locked all the company's books in the vaults, got together all the bank notes and gold we had on hand and made preparations to go on board the steamer when she called this morning. My plan was to tell them of the trouble here and try to save you. We were all expected to die of the plague—that's what we were—and I realized that Tommy Atkins was off the boards forever.

"We hadn't any more than got the cash and valuables ready to smuggle aboard when down came Rasuia upon us—10 o'clock last night, your lordship. He had a dozen men with him, and he told every mother's son of us that our presence in the town was not desired until after the ship had sailed away. We were taken up into the hills by a squad of men. There wasn't a man among us that didn't know that we were to be killed as soon as the ship had gone. With our own eyes we saw the mail bags rifled and nearly all of the mail destroyed. The pouches from the chateau were burned. Rasuia politely informed us that the plague had broken out among the chateau servants and that no mail could be sent out from that place. He said he intended to warn the ship's officer of the danger in landing, and—well, that explains the short stay of the ship and the absence of nearly all mail from the island. There won't be another boat for three weeks, and they won't land because of the plague. They will get word, however, that every one in the chateau has died of the disease and that scores of natives are dying every day.

"Well, we decided to break away from the guard and try to get to the chateau. It was their intention to take some of us back to the bank this morning to open the vault and the safes. That was to be our last act, I fancy. About 4 this morning a dozen of the women came up to where we were being held. They were flying from the town and ran into the arms of our guard before they knew of their presence. It seems that those devils down their had set out to kill their women because it was known that one of them had warned Mr. Chase of his danger. During the excitement brought about by their arrival in our camp we made a sudden attack upon our guards. They were not expecting it, and we had seized their rifles before they could recover from their surprise. I regret to say that we were obliged to kill a few of them in the row that followed. You let us in just in time. My word, it was a close shave."

"It's an ill wind that blows all evil," said Deppingham. "Mr Rowles, you are welcome. We are a bit short of able-bodied soldiers. May we count on you and the men who came with you?"

"To the end, my lord," said Bowles, almost bursting his jacket by inflation. The others slapped their legs stanchly.

The arrival of the refugees from Aratat gave the chateau a stanch little garrison of sixty men.

"For the time being we are as snug as bugs in a rug," said Deppingham when all was over. "Shall we rejoin the ladies, gentlemen?" He was as calm as a May morning.

The three leaders found the ladies in the shaded balcony, lounging lazily, as if no such thing as danger existed. Below them in the grassy courtyard a dozen indolent Persians were congregated, lying about in the shade with all the abandon of absolute security. The three women in the balcony had been watching them for an hour, commenting freely upon these creatures from another world. Neenah, the youngest and prettiest of them all, had wafted kisses to the proud dames above. She had danced for their amusement.

Neenah had wafted kisses to the proud dames above.

Lady Agnes waved her hand lazily toward the group below, sending a mocking smile to Chase. "The Asiatic plague," she said cheerfully.

"The deuce!" broke in her husband, not catching her meaning. "Has it really broken out?"

"Deppy, you are the dumbest creature I know!" exclaimed his wife.

Chase smiled broadly. "She refers to the newly acquired harem, Lord Deppingham. We're supposed to die with the Asiatic plague, not to—not to"—

"Not to live with it! Ho, ho, I see, by Jove!" roared Deppingham amiably. "Splendid! Harem! I get the point. Ripping!"

"They're not so bad, are they, Bobby?" asked Lady Agnes coolly, going to Browne's side at the railing. It may not have been true that Browne was in love with Lady Deppingham, but it was more than evident that his wife felt convinced that he was.

"Splendid!" was the sudden exclamation of Drusilla's vagrant lord. The others looked up, interested. "Say, everybody, Lady Agnes and I have hit upon a rippling scheme. It's great!"

"To better our position?" asked Deppingham.

"Position? What—oh, I see. Not exactly. What do you say to a charity ball, the proceeds to go to the survivors of the plague we're expected to have?"

The princess gave a quick, inventory look at Chase's face. Browne's tail fellow countryman was now leaning against the rail beside her chair. She saw a look of surprised amusement flit across his face, succeeded almost instantly by a hard, dark frown of displeasure. He waited a moment and then looked down at her with unmistakable shame and disapproval in his eyes.

"We might just as well be merry while we can," Browne was saying. "Think of what the French did at the time of the commune. They danced and died like ladies and gentlemen. And our own forefathers, Chase, at the time of the American Revolution—remember them too. They gave their balls and parties right under the muzzles of British cannon. And Vicksburg—New Orleans, too—in the civil war! Think of 'em! Why shouldn't we be as game and as gay as they?"

"But they were earnest in their distractions," observed Deppingham, with a glance at his wife's eager face. "This could be nothing more than a travesty, a jest."

"Oh, let us be sports," cried Lady Agnes, falling into an Americanism readily. "It may be a jest, but what odds? Something to kill time with."

"I don't like Mr. Browne," whispered Genevra suddenly. Chase did not reply. She waited a moment and then went on. "He is not like Deppingham. Do you understand?"

Lady Deppingham came over to them at that instant, her eyes sparkling.

"It's to be tonight," she said. "A fashionable charity ball—everything except the newspaper accounts, don't you know. Committees and all that. It's short notice, of course, but life may be short. We'll have Arab acrobatics, Persian dances, a grand march, electric lights and absolutely no money to distribute. That's the way it usually is. Now, Mr. Chase, don't look so sour! Be nice, please!" She put her hand on his arm and smiled up at him so brightly that he could not hold out against her. She caught the touch of disapproval in Genevra's glance, and a sharp, quick flash of rebellion came into her own eyes.

"What is a charity ball?" asked Genevra after a moment.

"A charity ball is a function where one set of women sit in the boxes and say nasty things about the women on the floor, and those on the floor say horrid things about the women in the boxes. It's great fun."

"Charity is simply a hallucination, then?"

"Yes, but don't mention it aloud. Mr. Britt is trying with might and main to prove that Bobby and I have hallucinations without end. If I happen to look depressed at breakfast time he jots it down—spells of depression and melancholia, do you see? He's a dreadful man."

Saunders was approaching from the lower end of the balcony. He appeared flustered. His face was red and perspiring and his manner distrait.

"Well, Saunders?" said Deppingham as the lawyer stopped to clear his throat disequipulously.

"I have found sufficient food of all descriptions, sir, to last for a month at least," said Saunders in a strained, unnatural voice.

"Have a cigarette, Deppy?" interposed Browne, seeing that something was amiss with Saunders. In solemn order the silver box went the rounds.

Saunders spoke up, as if suddenly recollecting something. "I have to report, sir, that the stock of cigarettes is getting very low. They can't last three days at this rate, sir."

The three men stared at him.

"Good Lord!" exclaimed Chase, who could face any peril and relish the experience if needs be, but who now foresaw a sickening deprivation. "You can't mean it, Saunders!"

"I certainly do, sir. The mint is holding out well, though, sir. I think it will last."

"By George, that is a calamity?" groaned Chase. "How is a man to fight without cigarettes?"

Genevra quietly proffered the one she had not lighted, a quizzical smile in her eyes.

"My contribution to the cause," she said gayly. "What strange creatures men are! You will go out and be shot at all day and yet"— She paused and looked at the cigarette as if it were entitled to reverence.

"It does seem a bit silly, doesn't it?" lamented the stalwart Chase. Then he took the cigarette.

The Ostrich.

That ostriches hide their heads in the sand and think that their bodies are thereby hidden seems to be pure myth, says The London Times. Old birds on the nest and young birds when seeking to evade notice squat close to the ground and stretch their necks out flat on the sand. In the case of the young, which harmonizes as perfectly with their sandy surroundings as young ringed plover do with the stones on a beach, the ruse is said to render them almost invisible, and on the wide expanses of the desert it is evident that the upright neck of a sitting bird would render it unnecessarily conspicuous to a marauding enemy. But there is no more ground for accusing the ostrich of "self illusion" than there is for bringing the same charge against the partridge chick, which by merely sitting still among the grass practically disappears from sight.

The Timber Census.

The census of the forest products of Canada, to be taken on 1st June, 1911, will embrace square, fancy or flat timber, logs for lumber and miscellaneous products.

In the first class are included ash, birch, elm, maple, oak, pine and all other timber cut as square, fancy or flat, and the enumeration will be reported for cubic fert and value.

Logs for lumber, which are included in the second class, are in such woods as elm, hickory, hemlock, oak, spruce and pine. They will be enumerated in the census by quantities of 1,000 feet board measure, with value in the same unit.

Coughs Up a Lizard.

A rare case occurred at Brantford recently. Reginald Duckworth, stepson of Adam Aird, who has been very ill, during a heavy coughing attack brought up a three-inch lizard. Duckworth is recovering rapidly.

Area of Japan.

The area of Japan is 148,000 square miles—about 10,000 square miles less than the area of the single state of California. It would take twenty-five Japans to equal the area of the United States.

THE NEXT CENSUS.

The Counting of 1911 Will Cover a Wide Field.

The next census of Canada will be taken under date of June 1, 1911, and will embrace the subjects of population, mortality, agriculture, manufactures, minerals, fisheries and dairy products.

Population will be recorded under the heads of residence and personal description, citizenship, nationality and religion; profession, occupation and trade or means of living; wage-earnings and insurance; education and language spoken, and infirmities.

Every person living on 1st June will be entered on the schedule of population by name, as member of a family, institution or household, together with place of habitation, sex, relationship to head of family or household, and whether single, married, widowed, divorced or legally separated. The month of birth, year of birth and age at last birthday will also be recorded.

Entries will be made for each person to show the country or place of birth, year of immigration to Canada, if born elsewhere, year of naturalization if formerly an alien, and also racial or tribal origin, nationality and religion. Every person of alien birth who has become a naturalized citizen is a Canadian by nationality; and every British subject with residence in Canada, as well as every native of Canada who has acquired citizenship by birth or naturalization, is also a Canadian by nationality. But there is no Canadian by racial or tribal origin, unless the Indians are so counted.

Every person having an occupation or trade will be entered for it, but if employed in the census year at some other occupation for part or whole time he will be so recorded also. If the person is working on own account, the entry will be so made. An entry is also required to be made showing where the person is employed, as farm, in woolen mill, at foundry shop, in drug store, etc.

Wage earners are entered to show the number of weeks employed in 1910 at chief occupation or trade; at other than chief occupation if any; the hours of working time per week at chief occupation, or at other occupation, if any; the total earnings in 1910 at chief occupation; the total earnings at other than chief occupation; and the rate per hour when employed by the hour.

Entries are required to be made for each person showing the amount of insurance held at date of the census upon life, as well as against accident or sickness, together with the cost of such insurance in the census year.

Under the heading of education and language, records will be taken for every person 10 years of age and over showing the number of months at school in 1910, and if the person can read and write, and the language commonly spoken by each person. The cost of education in 1910 for persons over 16 years of age at college, convent or university is also called for.

The last question on the schedule of population relates to infirmities. It calls for a record of each person having an infirmity. If blind, deaf and dumb, crazy or lunatic, idiotic or silly, a record thereof will be made in the proper column, and the age at which the infirmity appeared is required to be specified.

Hays' Lesson In Diligence.

The anecdote anent C. M. Hays, president of the G.T.R., which is given below, is going the rounds of the Canadian press, and is used quite properly as a counsel to diligence in young men.

Charles Melville Hays was in the passenger department of the Atlantic and Pacific Railway at St. Louis when he was not much over 17. One day Mr. Talmage, vice-president and general manager of the Gould roads, entered the room. It was a little before lunch time, and all the clerks were putting on their coats. Others were looking at their watches and leaving for the wash-room. In the general commotion of breaking up there were a few who were still busy, and among them was young Hays. Talmage approached him and asked the time of day. The young man did not hear, and Talmage put a hand on his desk, repeating the question. Hays looked up, surprised to see the chief at his elbow.

"I beg your pardon, were you speaking to me?" he asked.

"Merely asked the time—that was all," said Talmage.

Hays glanced about the room until his eyes rested on the office clock and said:

"It's eleven fifty."

"Thank you," said the general manager, strolling out.

It was shortly after that conversation that Talmage picked Hays out as his private secretary and confidential clerk. The fact that Hays was thinking more about his work than about leaving away had impressed the general manager in a most favorable way.

One of "Q's" Stories

Mr. Quiller Couch, the novelist, was recently presenting certificates to the members of an ambulance class at Fowey. "Years ago," he said, "an old Cornish fisherman at a similar class was asked how he would treat the apparently drowned. 'Well,' he replied, 'the first thing we always did was to empty the man's pockets!'"

HON. MR. SIFTON'S FIND

HIS NEW ATTORNEY-GENERAL IS A NEWCOMER IN POLITICS.

Charles Richmond Mitchell Is Thirty-Seven Years of Age and Comes From the Maritime Provinces Where Statesmen Are the Chief Item of Export—His Home Is In Medicine Hat.

One of the foremost of Hon. Mr. Sifton's colleagues in the new Alberta Government is a brainy young man from the Maritime Provinces, Hon. C. R. Mitchell, the new Attorney-General and Minister of Education, returned in the bye-election recently. He is somewhat of a new figure in the western political arena, but his intimate friends say that he has plenty of the grey matter that is bred down by the sea and that has been so fruitful in producing Premiers of Canada, distinguished college professors, and thinkers in other walks of life, and they state that Premier Sifton has made a very wise choice in selecting for two such important portfolios this young man member of the judiciary. The new Minister is a man of very strong character and in the growing province of Alberta he will find large scope for his exceptional powers and undoubted ability.

Charles Richmond Mitchell is a son of the late James Mitchell, inspector of lighthouses for the province of New Brunswick, and was born at Newcastle, N.B., November 20, 1872. He received his education at Harkin's Academy, Newcastle, and in the University of New Brunswick at Fredericton, N.B., graduating from the latter institution with the degree of B.A. in 1894. Shortly afterwards he commenced the study of law in the offices of the late Hon. Andrew G. Blair at St. John. In 1897 the degree of B.C.L. was conferred upon him by King's College, Windsor, N.S. After practicing his profession for a time with the Hon. L. J. Tweedie at Chatham, N.B., he went west and in February, 1898, opened an office in Medicine Hat, continuing in practice there until his appointment in November, 1907, to the district court bench for the judicial district of Calgary. From 1901 to 1907 he held the position of crown prosecutor. During his residence in Medicine Hat he was actively identified with its municipal progress, being a member of the town council and for a number of years afterwards city solicitor. From the start he has been actively identified with the municipal growth of the city and the pretty town among the cypress hills is proud of its young and progressive citizen. Last year he married Miss Clara, daughter of the late Alexander Fraser, of St. Thomas, Ont.

Memorial to Wauchope.

An affecting scene was witnessed at a luncheon given in Edinburgh recently to the Black Watch (Royal Highlanders) after a formal presentation to the City Council of a memorial to officers and men of the regiment who fell in South Africa. Mrs. Wauchope, widow of Gen. Wauchope, who was killed while leading the Highland Brigade at Magersfontein, was asked to say a few words. In tremulous tones she was only able to say: "I think you all know what the Black Watch means to me, and I will just thank you." In shaking down Mrs. Wauchope was overcome with emotion, and the incident had a marked effect upon all present. Col. Grogan, in formally handing over the memorial—erected at the Mound—said that the fame of Gen. Wauchope and his comrades did not rest alone in records of marble and bronze. Their memory would be revered and honored in the Black Watch as long as the regiment was in existence.

Execution of Wardani.

Wardani, the young Nationalist who murdered Boutros Pasha, the Egyptian Premier, was executed at Cairo the other week. Wardani was very perturbed during the last moment. After the rope had been put round his neck he made the traditional Mahommedan declaration: "I declare that there is no god but God, and that Mahommed is the Prophet of God." To this he added, "and that liberty and independence are the gifts of God." Death was instantaneous.

ALBERTA'S FINE EXHIBIT

EXCITES COMMENT AT CANADIAN NATIONAL EXHIBITION

Excellent Display of Threshed Grain, Showing Big Yields of Wheat and Oats from Various Districts in Northern and Southern Alberta—Proof that Crops are Good, Despite the Small Rainfall this Year.

Toronto.—One of the most interesting agricultural exhibits at the Canadian National exhibition is the Alberta government exhibit in the east wing of the Horticultural building. The wall is beautifully decorated with sheaves of varieties of grain, as well as tame and native grasses. A most interesting new feature in connection with this exhibit is the grand display of threshed grains. There are six acre yields shown, and while they are not the largest yields that could have been shown, they are such that visitors must be convinced of the wonderful grain-growing possibilities of the province of Alberta.

There are two yields of oats shown. One acre of "Abundance," grown by J. C. Hill and sons, of Lloydminster, which yielded 97 measured bushels per acre, and weighs 8 pounds per bushel, and one yield of "Banner" oats, grown by Robert McKay, of Blackfalds, yielding 85 bushels by measure per acre and 44 pounds per bushel.

One yield of 60 bushels and 21 pounds of winter wheat is shown, grown by Arthur Perry, at Cardston, and it weighs 66 pounds per bushel. Pawson brothers, of Coaldale, sent an acre yield of spring wheat, which went 58 bushels to the acre, and weighs 65 pounds per bushel. The most remarkable feature of this grain exhibit is the excellent quality of the grain. A large number of the samples shown are the growth of 1910, and show clearly that the crops in Alberta are fairly good, even with the small rainfall of this year, and that in a large portion of the province the crops are excellent this year.

In the centre of the exhibit an Indian tepee is shown, from the Sarcee reserve, southern Alberta. It is just as it appeared when purchased at the reserve, and is of great interest to the thousands of visitors who see it every day.

Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture for Alberta, is personally supervising the exhibit, and has E. L. Richardson, manager of the provincial exhibition at Calgary, in charge. F. W. Brown, publicity agent at Toronto, whose office is at 127 Front street, and C. R. McCutcheon, his assistant, are also assisting with the exhibit.

After the close of the Toronto exhibition the Alberta exhibit will be erected at Spokane, Washington, for the dry farming congress.

AUTO TRIP TO NORTH

Cagary Party Will Go Up to the Peace River Crossing—Will Start This Week

Calgary.—G. C. Middaugh is starting this week on a remarkable automobile trip, in company with his wife and three friends from the States. They are going to drive across from Edmonton, via the Swan hills' trail to Grouard at the head of Lesser Slave lake, and will then go on to Peace River Crossing where they will winter before proceeding further.

This will be the first automobile to reach this far north and Mr. Middaugh and party will do a remarkable thing if they succeed as well as they hope. The astonishment of the breeds and natives when they see the buzz wagon will be something well worth witnessing.

The aim of the party is to eventually locate in any part of the Peace River country that most appeals to them.

Mr. Middaugh is carrying with him enough gasoline for about 2,000 miles, and figures he will have enough to carry him to the north country and back again. This is not the first time he and Middaugh have ventured into strange and little known corners of the land. They went all through Mexico by pack trail, and they have been through the Hudson Bay country together, so the little jaunt to the north will not be a hard one at all.

FLIGHT ACROSS OCEAN COMING

Aeroplanes Will Soon Rival the Big Liners, is the Opinion of Graham-White

Boston, Mass.—That airship passage across the Atlantic Ocean will soon rival that of the liners, is the opinion of Claude Grahame-White, the noted English aviator, who is here to compete in several American meets.

"The possibilities of the aeroplane are beyond the wildest dreams of fancy," he said. "I am becoming more and more impressed with this fact every day. Practical? Why, they will become the most practical thing in the world in a few years. Just as soon as the automatic control is established and that can be accomplished at any time by means of a pendulum, any one can handle the aeroplane.

Changing Policy of Hudson Bay Stores

London.—Commissioner Chipman, of Winnipeg, is now in London discussing with the Hudson Bay directorate the question of the reorganization of the company's store system. This is the central feature in the policy of the deputy governor, Mr. Skinner, and the new majority in control of the stock. Hudson Bay shares advanced to £160 this week.

FISHERY COMMISSION MEET

Saskatchewan Men Give Evidence in Regard to Conditions in That Province

Regina.—The first meeting of the Royal commission appointed to enquire into the fisheries of Saskatchewan and Alberta was held here under the chairmanship of Professor E. E. Prince, of Ottawa, the other members of the commission being ex-Chief Justice McGuire, of Prince Albert, and Dr. Euston Sisley, of Calgary. The chairman, in opening the proceedings, expressed the hope that the commission, which was first appointed with large powers to investigate, would result in the gathering of such information as would enable them to make recommendations to Ottawa which would be in the interest of the western fisheries generally.

The first witness heard was Dr. Low, of Regina, president of the Saskatchewan Game Protection association, who advocated the introduction of black bass in the interests of sportsmen.

Mr. Van Valkenburg, secretary of the association also gave evidence, and was followed by T. N. Willing, late chief of the provincial game and weed branches, and Chas. Benfield, who gave their experience of fishing in Long Lake, extending over a period of thirty years.

The most interesting evidence given during the day was that of Dr. Charlton, provincial bacteriologist, who submitted analyses of the various lakes and rivers in the province with a view to showing their adaptability or otherwise for fish cultivation.

Mr. Peverett, of Regina, and J. B. Morrison, of Long Lake, also gave evidence. The commission will visit Long Lake and the smaller lakes in the Last Mountain district, near Strasburg before proceeding to Saskatoon.

ALBERTA TO FIGHT FOR PRIZE

Intend to Win the Dry Farming Exposition Cup Known as "World's Trophy."

Spokane.—The province of Alberta, Canada, is going to make a strong attempt this year to carry away from the Dry Farming exposition the cup known as the "World's Trophy." This cup has been won the last two years by Colorado, and is always a source of strong contention by states and provinces.

Six states and one Canadian province reserved space for exhibits at dry farming headquarters recently. Alberta has asked to have set aside an additional space of 7288 feet, which will be sufficient to display carloads of dry farming products. The granting of this space makes a total of 184 lineal feet for Alberta display.

Riverside, Cal., is contemplating the making of an exhibit and sending a large delegation. The Riverside men called a public meeting to organize a local dry farming organization to boost the movement and plan to send representative delegates.

The commercial club of Baker City, Ore., reports that great interest is being aroused there in the congress. The club will decide at its next meeting regarding the sending of a delegation and a district exhibit of dry farm products to both the exposition and the interstate fair.

MACLEOD HAS NO. 1 HARD

Yield Not Large Compared With Other Years, but Sample Is Excellent

Macleod. — Harvesting is almost done, a large portion of the threshing is done and the farmers can be seen bringing number one hard to the market every morning.

While the yield has not been large, the quality is first-class and there has not been a second rating yet by the grain men of the town.

We have had a considerable amount or rain in the lake in which will help the roots and the fall wheat. Rain has fallen for several days and every team in the south country is busy plowing for the crop next year.

Report on Development of Brazeau

Vancouver.—W. L. Coulsen, director and manager of mines for the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir), Ltd., left recently for Edmonton with Wm. Mackenzie, president of the C.N.R., for the purpose of visiting the Brazeau coal fields, west of Edmonton, and to report on a plan of development. Mackenzie and Mann interests have acquired large holdings in that district, to which a branch of the C.N.R. will be extended. During his recent visit in London Mackenzie raised $7,000,000 for this. The coal is bituminous, and well adapted for cooking and steaming purposes.

The Law Society of Alberta

Calgary.—The results of the second intermediate examination of students at law conducted by the Law Society of Alberta which have been delayed have now been issued, and they show that the following students have been successful in the examination: W. D. Gow, Calgary; F. de Roussey de Sales, Calgary; F. L. Shouldice, Calgary; B. H. Gilchrist, High River; A. Grant, Strathcona; F. Pottage, Edmonton; N. R. Lindsay, Edmonton.

Proposed Memorial to King Edward

London.—The Earl of Plymouth proposes that the Crystal Palace should be made an empire centre at a cost of £750,000 as a memorial to King Edward VII. Among his suggestions is that the overseas dominions should erect permanent pavilions there for exhibition purposes.

RESULTS OF AWARD

CANADA WINS IN THE MOST IMPORTANT POINTS

Award Disposes of the American Contention that the Hudson Bay is Not a Closed Sea—The Greatest Satisfaction is Expressed Over the Result of the Hague Decision on the North Atlantic Fisheries Case.

Ottawa.—The cabled digest of The Hague decision on the North Atlantic fisheries case, in press despatches recently, is received with much satisfaction by officials of the government conversant with the large issues at stake so far as Canada is concerned.

The finding of the tribunal in favor of the British contentions on questions one and five means, practically, that from the Canadian standpoint by far the most important rights contended for have been won.

According to Mr. J. S. Ewart, K.C., Canadian counsel before the tribunal, nineteenths of the whole argument was on these two points. The loss of the British case on other points at issue is comparatively unimportant, except in so far as Newfoundland is locally affected by the decision. The right of Canada to make fisheries regulations binding on all foreign fishermen in the territorial waters is established, and territorial waters, according to the finding on question five, are defined as being three miles outside a line drawn from headland to headland. This means that Canada's jurisdiction over all large bays is established by international law. The decision is taken to mean that Canada will now be enabled to assert her right to control the fisheries in Juan De Fuca Straits and at other points along the British Columbia coast.

It also disposes of the American contention that the Hudson Bay is not a closed sea, and exclusively under Canadian jurisdiction. The full text of the award is, of course, not yet available, but according to cabled summaries the result, as noted above, is regarded here as a far-reaching victory for Canada.

SETTLERS WILL NEED SUPPLIES

Supplies Accidentlly Burned and Steamers Cannot Navigate the Fraser River

Victoria.—A serious situation in the Nechaco country is reported in advices just to hand from Fort George, which emanate now that owing to the failure of steamers to navigate Fraser Lake, many of the settlers are already sorely in need of staple supplies, while the situation is said to the winter is even more alarming. The shortage of stores in the Nechaco Valley is accentuated by the fact that a large quantity of supplies were accidentally burned not long ago while waiting transportation. It is understood that special efforts will be put forth by the business interests of Fort George to cope with the present situation, although it is not improbable that the government may also be asked to assist.

The positive assurance of the completion of the Blackwater road before the advent of winter, to furnish a dependable link of communication with the outside world, would greatly relieve the anxieties of interested settlers. This road the Hon. Thos. Taylor some time ago gave orders should be rushed forward with the least possible delay, difficulty in obtaining sufficient labor being the reason for its non-completion ere this.

TRYING TO CONVICT CRIPPEN

British Crown Prosecutors Are Slowly Unravelling a Chain of Evidence Against Him

London.—The crown prosecutors are slowly unravelling a chain of evidence with which they expect to convict Dr. Hawley H. Crippen of the murder of his wife, the music hall singer, Belle Elmore, with Ethel Le-neve as accessory after the fact. It was expected that important medical testimony would be given early in the court proceedings, but its presentation has been delayed until the counsel for the defence have had an opportunity of viewing the remains. The trial has therefore been adjourned until September 14.

Calgary.—P. C. Culbert, secretary of the Pincher Creek, Cardston and Montana, states that the company's operations have not been hampered by any official neglect on the part of any member of the Alberta government. Action was not declared owing to any neglect on the part of the government and the premier has rendered them every assistance.

C. N. R. ENCOUNTERS TROUBLE

Plans for Line from St. Albert West Have Been Disapproved by the Railway Commission

Winnipeg.—The Canadian Northern railway is again balked in its efforts to locate a line westward from Edmonton towards the Yellowhead Pass. Plans for the line from St. Albert west have been disapproved by the railway commission at Ottawa, on the ground that the route proposed lay too close to that of the Grand Trunk Pacific. Engineers first endeavored to run farther north but could not do so on account of the hilly nature of the country. It was decided, therefore, to parallel the G.T.P. route from Lobstick to Yellowhead Pass.

Unless the C.N.R. can convince the railway commission of the necessity for running parallel to the G.T.P. material change in the plans will be required. It is probable that the C.N.R. may find it necessary to run south of the Grand Trunk.

The C.N.R. was compelled once before to abandon the line west of Edmonton, even after a good deal of construction work had been done. On that occasion the G. T. P. beat them to the punch in filing and securing approval of route plans. Interesting and vigorous representations are to be made to the railway commission on behalf of the C.N.R. In the meantime work on the line west of St. Albert is under contract with the Alberta government to build a certain distance this year.

WILL STAND NO CRITICISM

Bring Proof to Show That Mr. Osler Was Wrong in His Statements

Winnipeg, Man.—The Centennial Exposition directors met recently and contradicted in strong terms the statement made by E. B. Osler, M.P., of Toronto, that the holding of the 1914 exposition would be unwise for Winnipeg. Mr. Osler's statements regarding business conditions in Seattle since their fair was met by the strongest denial possible in a telegram the directors received from Seattle Chamber of Commerce, which quoted increased bank clearings, building permits and population, since the close of their exposition.

The directors showed that Winnipeg was favorably situated to handle the exposition to the advantage of all Canada, and in a broad comprehensive statement pointed out that the 1914 exposition was not a local, but an all-Canadian one and would be of national benefit.

The business men behind the project had made closest investigations everywhere and had raised one million dollars locally to its support.

Surprise was expressed in business circles here upon Mr. Osler's knowledge of the subject, which he gave in an interview, in view of his capacity as a member of the Canadian Pacific railway board, who have already made liberal advances to the preliminary fund and who have expressed themselves willing to contribute $500,000 in cash to the exposition.

CZAR HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Strangers Push Their Way Almost Into the Presence of Autocratic Ruler

Berlin.—A daring attempt has been made upon the lives of the Czar and his family, according to dispatches received here from Friedberg. The Imperial family is at the castle of the Grand Duke of Hesse. Two strangers wearing the uniform of the Eighty-eighth Infantry, succeeded in getting through the outer line of detectives, but failed to pass the inner line of sentries, not having the password. They were stopped, and investigation proved that they did not belong to the army. It is believed they are agents of the Russian revolutionary party.

NO CHANCE FOR OLD MEN

G.T.R. Officials State That No More Passenger Men Will Be Reinstated

London, Ont.—There is a big stir here among G. T. R. strikers over the statement made by prominent railway officials that no more passenger men will be reinstated. Superintendent Bowker, when asked, said that as the strike breakers continued to give satisfaction and they wanted to remain with the company they would be no chance of the old men coming back.

Pieces of Meteor Found in Earth

Portland, Ore.—Three pieces of the spectacular daylight meteor that was seen from many Oregon cities recently have been found near Woodburn, and many now believe that the entire body of the heavenly visitor will be found. At first it was thought that the meteor had passed beyond land and struck in the Pacific ocean.

H. T. Hudson has two pieces of the meteor, one of which he took to Woodburn. There it was analyzed. It was found to be iron, with all other substances eliminated. They discovered all the particles were white with heat.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON XII.—THIRD QUARTER, FOR SEPT. 18, 1910

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xxii, 15-22, 34-46—Memory Verses, 37-39—Golden Text, Matt. xxii, 21—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This lesson is found in Matthew, Mark and Luke and tells how by the Herodians and Sadducees and Pharisees they sought to entangle Him in His talk. Luke says that they sent forth spies who would feign themselves just men that they might take hold of His words that so they might deliver Him unto the power and authority of the governor (Luke xx, 20.) Consider who He was and who they were. See the Creator watched, criticised, hated, rejected by the creatures whom He had made and to whom He gave life and health and all things, and yet He patiently suffers it and would love and bless them if they would only let Him.

The flattering words of verse 16 are nothing new, for we read in Ps. lxxviii. 36, "They did flatter Him with their mouth, and they lied unto Him with their tongues, for their heart was not right with Him. * * * But He, being full of compassion, forgave their iniquity and destroyed them not." As He perceived their wickedness and asked for a piece of money and from it answered their question they marveled at Him and held their peace and left Him and went their way. (verse 22, with Mark and Luke). Do you covet such wisdom, not that you may be wondered at, but that He may be glorified? If so, remember that Stephen was so filled with faith and power that they were not able to resist the wisdom and the spirit by which he spoke (Acts vi, 8, 10). It is indeed true that they read of Jesus at this time, "Thou regardest not the person of men," so that we also may be filled with His spirit and wisdom if we will. It ought to be said of every teacher, "Thou art true and teachest the way of God in truth, neither carest thou for any man" (verse 16), for it is also written by the Spirit that our attitude should always be "not as pleasing men, but God, who trieth our hearts." And again, "If I yet pleased men I should not be the servant of Christ" (I Thess. ii, 4; Gal. i, 10). When questions arise about the right or wrong of this or that, let us first ask, Whose image do I bear? and that ought to settle it easily. As all the redeemed of the Lord, the world, the flesh and the devil have no just claim upon us, and it is our privilege gladly to render all to Him whose we are. They left Him and went their way (verse 22). We are too apt to do this. Let our prayer be, "Teach me Thy way, O Lord, and lead me in a plain path be cause of mine enemies" (Ps. xxvii, 11).

The same day came the Sadducees with a question which they thought would perplex Him, but He said to them was, "Ye do err, not knowing the Scriptures nor the power of God" (verse 29). Dr. Scofield's note is worth quoting: "Jesus' answer gives the three incapacities of the rationalist—self de ception (Rom. i, 21-22), ignorance of the spiritual content of Scripture (Acts xiii, 27), disbelief in the intervention of divine power (II Pet. iii, 5)." Note how our Lord emphasizes the great truth of resurrection (Rom. vi, 5) and see the plain teaching of Job ix, 25, 27; Isa. xxvi, 19; Dan. xii, 2, etc. See also how our Lord says that Ex. iii, 15, teaches not only life apart from the body, and note how resurrection of the body, and note how He indorses the story of the burning bush, which is today ridiculed by the wisdom of this world (Mark xii, 26; Luke xx, 37). In verse 31, in the words "Have ye not read that which was spoken unto you by God?" we have our Lord's indorsement of Rom. xv, 4, "Whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning." Unless we hear God speaking to our souls as we read His word we have not read with profit, and should read until His word takes hold of us with power. In verse 30 His word that in the resurrection we shall be "as the angels," as we in Luke, "equal unto the angels," is explained by His saying concerning marriage.

The next tempter is a lawyer scribe, who wants to know which is the first or great commandment in the law. To him Jesus quotes Deut. vi, 4, 5; Lev. xix, 18, summing up the Ten Commandments in love to God and to man and adding, "On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets" (verse 40). "There is none other commandment greater than these" (Mark xii, 31). Mark records the scribe's reply to Jesus, and that Jesus said to him, "Thou art not far from the kingdom of God." He seemed to understand the truth, but not away to continue to establish his own righteousness, not submitting to the righteousness of God (Rom. x, 2-4). As to this summary of the law see also Rom. xiii, 8-10.

And now Jesus has a question for the Pharisees as to whose Son the Messiah is to be, to which they promptly reply, "The Son of David." Then come from our Lord the quotation from Ps. cx. and the question, How can He be David's Son since David by the Spirit calls Him Lord? No one could answer, and this shut them up for the present. As a man Jesus was of the house of David (Rom. i, 3). As God He was David's Lord—truly a man, truly God, both the root and the offspring of David (Rev. xxii, 16).

A man can hardly ever fool a woman, but she can do it herself.

Sheep Industry in Canada

For a number of years it has been evident and it is now a matter of common knowledge that the sheep industry in Canada, particularly as regards the general production of market sheep and of high class wool, has been in an increasiugly decadent condition. Not only has the number of sheep owned in the country been lessening but the interest in sheep growrng has itself been on the wane. The census of sheep in Canada reveals the fact that the Dominion as regards the nomber of sheep kept compares not at all favorably with other great agricultural countries of the world. Indeed, as compared with them it has permitted sheep raising to become an insignificaut phase of its agriculture, notwithstanding its great adaptability as regards soil and climate for the growing of mutton and wool. In 1909, according to Agricultural returns, there were in the United Kingdom 31,838,833 heed of sheep, in the Argentine 67,211,754 head, in Australia 87,613,366 head, in New Zealand 23,480,707 head while the latest returns for Canada place the number at not more than 2,705,390 head. In viewof the fact that sheep have not only a direct and primary value through the actual financial returns which they make to their owners, but because they represent as well in themselves a peculiarly important asset in agriculture owing to their ability to increase soil fertility and to check the growth of weeds on the land the situation which the above figures suggest appears to be a rather critical one and one which may well receive careful consideration.

As a preliminary to the adoption of any settled policy and in order that the Live Stock Commissioner may inform himself thoroughly as to the details of the sheep and wool trade in Great Britain and the United States and as to conditions as they actually prevail in Canada, the Minister of Agriculture has authorized the appointment of a committee of two competent men to investigate the sheep situation in general in the three countries named.

At the same time, it is the expectation that, without an actual visit, they will gather as much information as possible concerning the trade of the other great sheep producing countries in as far ar it may be of interest in the development of the industry in Canada.

It has been thought advisable to have this committee consist of, in the first place, of a wool expert whose special training has made him familiar with all the technical and practical phases of wool markets and woolen manufacture in the United Kingdom and Canada and in the second place, of a capable Canadian sheep farmer whose experience has given him a somewhat extended knowledge of sheep breeding in this country. These gentlemen have already been appointed and are at present pursuing their investigations in Great Britain. The personnel of the committee consists of Mr W. T. Ritch of Manchester, Eng., and of Mr. W. A. Dryden of Brooklin, Canada.

Rafferty was about to be operated upon for the fourth time for appendicitis. The surgeons were all ready to begin as soon as the anaesthetic was administered and stood about with their knives, needles and other paraphernalia in readiness. AN AMBITIOUS MUSICIAN.

Donald Heins of Ottawa Has Toiled Hard.

It is quite natural to suppose that the winning by the Ottawa Symphony Orchestra, three years in succession of the Earl Grey Musical Trophy will arouse much curiosity as to the individuality and methods of Mr. Donald Heins, the organizer and conductor of the orchestra. Mr. Heins is an Englishman, not yet forty years of age. His musical education was acquired in England and on the continent of Europe. His speciality is the violin, and before he came to Canada, some eight or ten years ago, his services were much in requisition in London as a soloist. He is also a capable organist and pianist, and almost ever since going to Ottawa he has been organist of Knox Church, which has one of the largest Presbyterian congregations in the capital. Of late years, with an augmented choir and full orchestra, he has given one of the standard oratorios in the church each spring. He is best known in Ottawa, however, by his work in connection with the Canadian Conservatory of Music, which is affiliated with the Ottawa Ladies College. The present symphony orchestra, in which, by the way, Mrs. Heins plays leading violin, is the outcome of a string orchestra organized in a modest way, but with great ambitions, no longer than four years ago, with Mr. Heins' pupils as a nucleus. The ambition of Donald Heins is to become a great conductor. For the achievement of his goal he has both instinct and determination. Having collected a nucleus, as explained, he proceeded, according to his own language, to "lick them into shape" by the methods that spells success in every sphere. He first breathed into the organization enthusiasm and the desire of achievement, and then he made it work. Practice, practice, and then more practice, was what he preached. The entire week before his orchestra went to Toronto to take part in the Earl Grey competition, Heins set aside all his professional engagements and devoted every morning, afternoon and evening to rehearsals of the orchestra.

Here is an example of Donald Heins' thoroughness. For rounding off the strings in an orchestra, a certain number of wind instruments are needed. Now the best "wind" players in Ottawa as in other Canadian cities, are all professionals and belong to the musical union. So Heins had difficulty in getting wind players accustomed to the class of music played by his orchestra. He had to draw them from the military bands. To facilitate his work, therefore, it was desirable that there should be at least one military band in Ottawa from which he could recruit the sort of players he needed. If that military band could be conducted and trained by himself, might he not be able to train up players suitable for his orchestra? Heins accepted, with all the drudgery and time it represents, the leadership of the brass band of the 43rd, Duke of Cornwall's Own Rifles. This was only a little over a year ago. The band was then in a state of disorganization, but he has already brought it up to a high standard, but what is more to the point so far as Mr. Heins is personally concerned, he has already obtained for his orchestra much greater wind efficiency. Heins has shown himself such a good military band conductor that an American city recently offered him a position as band leader at a salary equal to what he is making for all his work in Ottawa, providing he would confine his attention to the band. Heins declined. It was a side trail away from his desired goal.

A Heroine of the Boer War.

Lady Sarah Wilson, who with her husband and party, recently passed through Canada on her way home from Australia, was, it will be remembered, one of the heroines of the one of the popular heroines of the South African War. By the way, the newspaper despatches have been somewhat mixed up as to the composition of the party, speaking of Captain Wilson as Lady Sarah's husband and mention that Col. Wilson is "also one of the party." As a matter of fact, Lieut.-Col. Wilson is her ladyship's husband, having obtained two grades of promotion from the captaincy he held at the time he served on Baden-Powell's staff during the defence of Mafeking. He is in his forty-fifth year and is the eldest son of the late Sir Samuel Wilson, M.P. He entered the Royal Horse Guards in 1887 and was twice mentioned in despatches for his services on the staff in South Africa. His wife was such a popular heroine during the war that the fame won by her soldier husband was somewhat overshadowed. Lady Sarah (Isabella Augusta) Wilson is the sixth daughter of the seventh Duke of Marlborough and is consequently an aunt of Winston Churchill, whom she resembles in venturesome disposition. It will be recalled that during the South African war she was taken prisoner by the Boers outside Mafeking and was later exchanged for a Boer prisoner. Her book, South African Memories," was one of the brightest, literary products of the great war.

MAGISTRATE CURED OF PILES & ECZEMA

One of the latest prominent gentlemen to speak highly in Zam Buk's favour is Mr. C. E. Sanford of Weston, King's Co., N.S. Mr. Sanford is a Justice of the Peace for the County, and a member of the Board of School Commissioners. He is also Deacon of the Baptist Church in Berwick. Indeed it would be difficult to find a man more widely known and more highly respected. Here is his opinion of Zam-Buk. He says:—

"I never used anything that gave me such satisfaction as Zam-Buk. I had a patch of Eczema on my ankle which had been there for over 20 years. Sometimes also the disease would break out on my shoulders. I had applied various ointments and tried all sorts of things to obtain a cure, but in vain. Zam-Buk, unlike everything else I had tried, proved highly satisfactory and cured the ailment. I have also used Zam-Buk for itching piles, and it has cured them completely also. I take comfort in helping my brother men, and if the publication of my opinion of the healing value of Zam-Buk will lead other sufferers to try it, I should be glad. For the relief of suffering caused by Piles or Skin Disease I know of nothing to equal Zam-Buk."

The Aim of a Woman

The police records show that some women, who can't hit the side of a barn with a stone, have remarkable aim with a flatiron.—Judge's Library.

To Men Who Live Inactive Lives.—Exercise in the open air is the best tonic for the stomach and system generally; but there are those who are compelled to follow sedentary occupations and the inactivity tends to restrict the healthy action of the digestive organs and sickness follows. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills regulate the stomach and liver and restore healthy action. It is wise to have a packet of the pills always on hand.

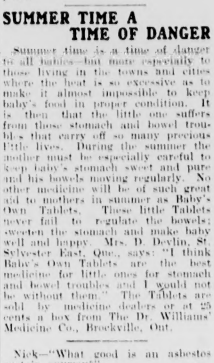

It is better to have pipestem legs than cigarette fingers.—St. Paul Dispatch.

SUMMER TIME A TIME OF DANGER

Summer time is a time of danger to all babies—but more especially to those living in the towns and cities where the heat is so excessive as to make it almost impossible to keep baby's food in proper condition. It is then that the little one suffers from those stomach and bowel troubles that carry off so many precious little lives. During the summer the mother must be especially careful to keep baby's stomach sweet and pure and his bowels moving regularly. No other medicine will be of such great aid to mothers in summer as Baby's Own Tablets. These little Tablets never fail to regulate the bowels; sweeten the stomach and make baby well and happy. Mrs. D. Devlin, St. Sylvester East, Que., says: "I think Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine for little ones for stomach and bowel troubles and I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
